Deeply concerned about Nelson's frame of mind since he quit his job in the emergency department in the middle of his shift, both Frank (John Howard) and Von (Judith McGrath) decide to pay their former co-worker visits this week.

But it's safe to say that Frank and Von receive anything-but-friendly receptions from Nelson, who is still outraged that his colleagues wrongly assumed he had begun drinking again.

"Picking up the bottle again is something Nelson hasn't thought about," says Paul Tassone, who plays Nelson.

"That would be taking a step back and I don't think Nelson would do that, out of respect to Kerry (Nelson's late fiancée, played by Jaime Mears). Kerry allowed Nelson to open himself up and I don't think he's willing to go back to that place. But if it means never working at the hospital again, he'll do that."

Meanwhile, back in the emergency department, the woman who caused Nelson's latest drama, Deanna (Sibylla Budd), finds herself at loggerheads with Charlotte (Tammy MacIntosh) over a patient. And Charlotte isn't about to let Deanna walk all over her. Watch out for some fireworks between these two feisty girls!
